

Baltic Committee 10 Feb. 1954 Journal

STAT 4. Mr. McTigue, Counsel to the House Baltic Committee, informed me that he is not ready as yet to discuss the additional material desired by the Committee in its expanded status as the expansion of the Committee's authority has not yet been approved. In the meantime, however, the Committee wishes in the very near future to spotlight the phony Baltic elections of 1941 in the light of the forthcoming March elections in the Baltic countries. They then wish to expand this election story to include some Satellite countries and have asked our opinion on the utilization of such witnesses as

STAT [redacted] I pointed out to Mr. McTigue the controversies among alien groups which would be caused by the utilization of one group instead of another, and he agreed that it was a major problem which they must face. He further asked whether we had [redacted] under our control so that the Committee might use him, but I assured him that we had no control whatsoever over [redacted]
